JAKE HONIG MEMORIAL FUND

Jake Honig, passed away at 7 years of age from brain cancer on January 21st 2018, after a long battle with extensive treatments consisting of multiple surgeries, chemotherapy, and radiation. Jake made the ultimate sacrifice. He donated his entire brain and spine to Childrens Hospital of Philadelphia, so that cancer researchers can find a cure. It was at that time, The Jake Honig Memorial Fund was born. This research project is crucial in saving the lives of future children, who are diagnosed with this disease. Every day, 7 children die from cancer and 36 new patients are diagnosed.
